

The Danger Imperative: Violence, Death, and the Soul of Policing

by Michael Sierra-Arévalo, Ph.D.

*Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology
The University of Texas at Austin*

Join us for a talk by Dr. Sierra-Arévalo based on his forthcoming book.

Dr. Sierra-Arévalo is an Assistant Professor of Sociology at the University of Texas at Austin and serves on the City of Austin's Public Safety Commission. His research shows how danger and violence influence police culture, officer practice, and social inequality. His first book, for which this seminar is named, is under advance contract at Columbia University Press and his other writings and research have appeared in the Los Angeles Times, the Washington Post, NPR, Vox, Slate, GQ, and the New Republic, among other outlets. He received his Ph.D. in Sociology from Yale University.

Friday, February 17th, 12:30 to 1:45 p.m.
