

The Presley Center of Crime & Justice Studies External Internship Program
CALL FOR APPLICATIONS
DEADLINE: Monday, April 1st

The Presley Center of Crime & Justice Studies is a research center housed within UCR's School of Public Policy that conducts empirical research to improve the criminal justice system and advance evidence-based practice. We are pleased to announce our annual call for applications for the Presley Center External Internship Program, which leverages our Center's connections with regional criminal justice agencies and community-based organizations that serve the justice-impacted population to create enriching professionalization opportunities for UCR students.

HOST ORGANIZATIONS

UCR students with an interest in criminal justice, policy, law, and/or supportive services for justice-impacted individuals are encouraged to apply for an internship with the following organizations:

- Riverside County District Attorney's Office
- Riverside County Probation Department
- Riverside County Public Defender's Office
- Riverside Police Department
- San Bernardino County District Attorney's Office
- San Bernardino County Probation Department
- San Bernardino County Public Defender's Office

Students may apply to be considered for an internship with one or more of the organizations listed above. (i.e. an internship with the Riverside County District Attorney's Office, Probation Department, OR the Public Defender's Office.) Applicants who are willing to be considered for an internship with more than one organization are more likely to be awarded an internship and are thus encouraged to apply for all organizations they might be interested in interning for.

INTERNSHIP DESCRIPTION

Most internships begin in late-June 2023, require a 6-month commitment, and at least 8 hours of work per week. Please consult the Organizations Table (p. 3-4) for information specific to each organization, including the types of responsibilities and assignments you will undertake as an intern.

While the vast majority of your internship activities will take place with your host organization, we developed supplementary opportunities to help maximize your professional development by making sure you have the tools and foundational knowledge you need to hit the ground running, support throughout, and develop strong working relationships that will facilitate your continued professional success after the internship ends. We do this through a cohort model that includes:

- Mini-course: Interns will come together to jump start their internship by completing a mini-course in professionalism and the foundations of the criminal justice system. These will be led by the Center's directors, last roughly 3 hours, and provide an opportunity to for you to get to know your fellow interns while preparing you with the information you need before beginning your internship.
- Group Check-Ins: We will bring the interns together—either in-person or via Zoom—to share their experiences with their peers and hear from guest speakers who work in this space. We will decide on the exact number of check-ins with the interns’ input, but will likely meet at least two times over the course of the internships.

- Office Hours Mentorship: Our external directors—the City of Riverside’s Chief of Police (retired) Sergio Diaz and San Bernardino County’s District Attorney (retired) Michael Ramos—will be available to meet with you throughout your internship to discuss your internship experience, professional interests, and provide general mentorship that supports your professional growth. We appreciate that criminal justice is a highly complex and, at times, politically contentious topic, so we want you to have an outlet to openly talk about your experience in a way you might not be comfortable doing so with your internship supervisor.
- Networking Luncheon: At the end of the internships, we will host a networking luncheon that brings the interns, their supervisors, and leadership from each organization to UCR. This will provide you the opportunity to share your work with your cohort and all of the internship host organizations, reflect upon your experience as relates to other domains within the criminal justice system, and broaden your network.

Eligible students may enroll in the School of Public Policy’s internship course for unit credit. Internships are unpaid, unless otherwise stated.

ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible, you must:

- Be a currently enrolled UCR student (undergraduate or graduate)
- Be in good academic standing
- Not have plans to graduate before March 2025
- Be able to complete the internship duties as described in the ‘Internship Description’ section and the specific responsibilities listed for the internship you are applying for in the Organizations Table (p. 3-4)

HOW TO APPLY

If you are interested in applying for a Presley Center External Internship, you must submit the following application materials:

- REQUIRED – A completed application form (p. 5 of this document)
- REQUIRED – A personal statement, not to exceed one single-spaced page, that answers the following questions:
  - What is your interest in the criminal justice system?
  - What are your long-term professional aspirations?
  - How will the Presley Center’s External Internship Program contribute to your professional aspirations?
  - What is something you would like to highlight about your educational successes, personal or professional accomplishments, or extracurricular activities that makes you an exceptional fit for this internship? This is an opportunity to provide the review committee with additional insight into your application.
- REQUIRED – An unofficial copy of your UCR transcripts
- OPTIONAL – A copy of your resume

The above application materials must be merged into a single PDF and submitted via email to presleycenter@ucr.edu by 11:59pm on Monday, April 1st.

QUESTIONS?

Please contact the Presley Center’s Associate Director, Justine Ross (justine.ross@ucr.edu), if you have questions about the internship program or your application.
